Government Dismisses MacInnes, Vancouver's Official Administrator

Former Civil Service Chief Retired For Good of Administration, Pooley Announces in Vancouver; Will Reduce Expenses in Making New Appointment, Attorney-General Declares; Dismissed Official One of Most Prominent in Government Employ

(By Canadian Press)
Vancouver, Oct. 30.—The Province carried the following dispatch from Victoria to-day:
W. H. MacInnes, Official Administrator in Vancouver, former Civil Service Commissioner and one of the most prominent figures in the provincial civil service, has been dismissed from office, Attorney-General Pooley announced to-day.

The action of the Government in removing Mr. MacInnes, the Attorney-General said, was taken for the benefit of the civil service and in the interest of economy and efficiency.
Mr. Pooley indicated that when a new appointment was made to the administrator's post, new arrangements covering the cost of the work involved would be inaugurated. The existing cost, he said, would be drastically curtailed.

PLANS ECONOMY
"We shall practice economy in this work as in other directions," Mr. Pooley declared, adding that Mr. MacInnes's work had cost the Province in the neighborhood of $11,000 a year. This expense, he indicated, could be curtailed by the reduction of the appointment of Mr. MacInnes's successor.
The official administrator in Vancouver, like other official administrators all over the Province, has been paid on the basis of commissions collected on estates administered. No regular salary is paid to any of these officials, and their income depends entirely on the volume of work which they handle. The office in Vancouver transacts more business than any other and the administrator has consequently drawn the largest income of any similar official in the Province, and one of the largest received by any civil servant.
While Mr. Pooley did not state what arrangements would be inaugurated, his statement that the cost of the office would be reduced indicated that some restrictions are to be placed upon the new administrator's income or that he will be paid a straight salary.

GREEN ON CREAM IS DESIGN FOR 1929 LICENSES

Provincial Police Announce Color Scheme For Next Year's Auto Plates

British Columbia automobiles will next year be adorned with license plates done in green and cream, it was announced at the license department of the Provincial Police headquarters this morning. The background of the new license plates will be in cream, while the figures and lettering will be in "Paul Revere" green.

The license plates will be issued under the same system as that used last year. Inspector G. A. Hood stated. Owners may apply by mail for their plates and when they have filled in their forms and completed the necessary qualifications plates will be mailed to them. Owners may also visit the registration offices themselves to procure their licenses.

TROUBLE ELIMINATED
Considerable trouble and waiting at the registration office was eliminated through the "mail order system" of handling the plates last year, Inspector Hood stated.
"The plan worked out to perfection," he said. "The long queues which we have had here in the past were practically eliminated and none of those who came to the station had to wait more than a few minutes to secure their licenses. In Vancouver it was the same way."

North Vancouver Opposes Cut In P.G.E. Service

North Vancouver, Oct. 30.—The North Vancouver City Council at a meeting last night went on record as being opposed to any move on the part of the board of directors of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway to abandon service on the section of the system between North Vancouver and Whylaciff.

Wrecked Ship Sinks In Gulf

Montreal, Oct. 30.—The problem of salvaging the $750,000 general cargo of the Cairn Line steamship Cairntorr suddenly ceased to exist yesterday when the big freighter broke up and disappeared beneath the surface on outer island rocks on the north shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, where she crashed last Tuesday while on a voyage from Montreal to British ports.

Biggest Reclamation Scheme In Province Planned At Creston

That a definite offer has been received by the Provincial Government for the reclamation of between 30,000 and 50,000 fertile acres in Kootenay Flats, near Creston, by a British Columbia syndicate, was made known this morning on the return of Hon. F. P. Burden, Minister of Lands, from a tour of the interior in connection with irrigation and reclamation matters.

As Minister of Lands, the water rights department comes under the jurisdiction of Mr. Burden and his attention was directed along these lines rather than to the subject of land settlement.
COVER WHOLE ACREAGE
The new offer, Mr. Burden explained, is entirely apart from the old offer of the Creston Reclamation Company, which was made before the Government was made known to the reclamation of 10,000 acres and the company still hopes to proceed with its plans. The new offer embraces all the rest of the area in Kootenay Flats on the Canadian side of the international boundary.

The proposed Creston scheme would be by far the biggest reclamation project in the Province and almost twice as large in area as the Sumas scheme, which covers 30,000 acres.

Mr. Burden's visit to interior irrigation areas to study water problems and four escaped death or serious injury by leaping to safety when several tons of clay poured into a tunnel where six workmen were digging today beneath the Michigan Central Railroad tracks in Amherstburg, Ont.

The whole matter of reclaimed areas will be made the subject of a survey with officials of his department, the Minister intimated.

Tunnel Break Kills Worker

Windsor, Ont., Oct. 30.—One man was killed, one was seriously injured and four escaped death or serious injury by leaping to safety when several tons of clay poured into a tunnel where six workmen were digging today beneath the Michigan Central Railroad tracks in Amherstburg, Ont.

$1,000 ROBBERY IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Oct. 30.—Goods valued at approximately $1,000 were stolen from the premises of Share Brothers on Seymour Street here last night, according to a report to the police.
Entrance was obtained by a rear door, which apparently had been left unfastened. The goods stolen included a Marconi radio set, a loud speaker, a number of articles for radio and a typewriter.

Liberals Call for Large Attendance At Nominating Convention This Evening

A good attendance, to make the choice of a candidate for the House of Commons by-election of December 6, representatives of the Liberals of Victoria, is urged by the Victoria Liberal Association for the nominating convention to-night at the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium, commencing at 8 o'clock. The convention to name a Liberal candidate to contest the Victoria seat, made necessary by the resignation of Premier Tolmie on his entry into the provincial field, will be an open one. Admittance will be secured by presentation of the invitation which has been forwarded to members of the Liberal Association and their membership cards. Membership cards may be obtained by those who have lost them. Nominations may be made from the floor of the meeting. Hon. J. D. MacLean, former Premier of British Columbia, has consented to his name going before the convention. Hon. J. H. King, Federal Minister of Pensions and National Health, will give a brief address.

Carrying Sixty From U.S. to Europe

Above is a bow view of the big German dirigible which to-day is speeding eastward across the Atlantic with twenty passengers and a crew of forty aboard.

At the right are pictures of Capt. E. H. Lehmann, one of the pilots; Dr. Hugo Eckener (centre), commander, and Commander G. E. Rosendahl (right), captain of the United States naval dirigible, Los Angeles, who made the voyage from Germany to Lakehurst, N.J., aboard the Graf Zeppelin and was on hand to bid farewell to the big German airship and its passengers and crew when they left Lakehurst yesterday morning.

PLAN STEPS TO SECURE PHILADELPHIA TO RAIL LANDS HAVE POLICE SWEEP

Philadelphia, Oct. 30.—Nearly one-third of Philadelphia's police commanders are declared by the special grand jury investigating gang murders and police corruption to be "unfit to hold any municipal office" and there are stated to be more in the same category.

The grand jury, in a statement to Judge Edmund O. Lewis, recommends three of the seven police inspectors of the city, and eighteen of the thirty-two captains "be dismissed from the service for unexplained personal wealth which we believe was either all or substantially all dishonestly acquired."

The presentment, which came at the beginning of the eleventh week of inquiry, listed bank deposits of more than $500,000 as having been made by the twenty-one police officials within the last four years.

GREAT DEPOSITS
The three inspectors, John J. Carlin, William J. McPadden and John Stuckert, were declared to have made total deposits of $336,794. Of that sum, $193,333 was credited to Carlin and $102,829 to McPadden. Deposits of the captains ranged from $3,000 to $86,000. District Attorney Monaghan, who is directing the inquiry, said the presentment had created a situation probably without a parallel in the history of cities of the United States, while Judge Lewis declared the "amazing sordid record" should make it clear to citizens of Philadelphia why gangsters, bootleggers and gunmen had been able to "operate with impunity."

REGISTRATION FOR FEDERAL LIST TO OPEN ON NOV. 1
Commencing November 1, offices for registration of voters will be open in the different wards in Victoria under the direction of P. R. Leighton, as returning officer, to make provision for those seeking to get on the Federal list for the by-election, December 6. The names on the last voters' list used by the Provincial authorities will automatically go on the list.
The new list will be open November 1 to November 7, to enable those not on the Provincial list to get on the Federal list. The offices will be open from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m., except for the hours between 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Places at which voters may register by wards and the registrars are as follows:
Ward One—2516 Government Street; C. A. Thomas and N. W. Sparks.
Ward Two—Temple Hall, North Park Street; G. A. Dyson and P. W. Will.
Ward Three—1190 Fort Street; J. M. Newcomb and Mrs. H. Crocker.
Ward Four—901 Burdett Avenue; D. H. Bell and Mrs. J. Nelson.
Ward Five—603 Belleville Street; N. R. Ballantyne and Mrs. J. Creighton.

TO CONFER ON WAGE RULING

Labour Minister Will Discuss Subject With Attorney-General

Consideration to the ruling of the Supreme Court of Canada on the Minimum Wage Act as it affects flunkies in logging camps was given by Hon. William McKenzie, Minister of Labor, immediately on his return from Vancouver this morning.

Mr. McKenzie also stated that he would confer with J. D. McNeven, Deputy Minister of Labor, on the subject as soon as the latter returned from Vancouver.

"We shall then take up the subject with the Attorney-General's Department, and until such time as we do that I am not prepared to make any statement on the ruling and the effect it is likely to have on the administration of the act," Mr. McKenzie added.

TO COVER A FLAW
Interviewed on the ruling in Vancouver, Mr. McNeven remarked that it is possible new legislation may be introduced in the Provincial Legislature immediately to cover what appears to be a flaw in the act. Reports received from Ottawa relative to the finding of the Supreme Court of Canada that an order passed by the board of adjustment and approved under the Minimum Wage Act, was ultra vires and invalid, were vague, he said. He was not in a position to comment upon the situation, Mr. McNeven added.

It seems likely that new legislation will be required to remedy the situation.

BIG AIRSHIP FIGHTS GALES ON SEA TRIP

Latest Report Placed Graf Zeppelin About Halfway Point on Voyage From Lakehurst, New Jersey, to Germany With Twenty Passengers and Crew of Forty; Friedrichshafen People Expect Dirigible to Arrive There Thursday Morning

London, Oct. 30.—A Portsmouth dispatch to the British Press Association late to-day said a message had been received from the German steamship Munchen indicating the dirigible Graf Zeppelin had completed about half of her homeward journey from Lakehurst, New Jersey, to Friedrichshafen.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Oct. 30.—Officials of the Zeppelin Company here, taking account of the gales which the Graf Zeppelin has been fighting, to-day estimated the airship would not arrive here before Thursday morning.

SQUIRES WINS AT THE POLLS IN NEWFOUNDLAND

As General Election Count Proceeds Opposition Victory Is Indicated

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 30.—With Hon. W. J. Walsh, Minister of Agriculture, and Hon. H. N. Burt, Minister of Posts, defeated; Hon. W. R. Howley, Minister of Justice, apparently losing in the count in St. John's West; E. Archibald, almost certain of victory in Harbor Grace and Opposition members elected in the Bellefleur, Bay Roberts, Harbor Main (two), and Port de Grave constituencies, a victory for the Opposition Party, led by Sir Richard Squires, former Premier, was indicated to-day by available returns from the general election held yesterday in Newfoundland.

RETURNS ANNOUNCED
Declared results were: Port de Grave—R. Smith, Opposition, 1,354; Cantwell, Independent, 526; Hon. H. N. Burt, Government, 331.
Bay Roberts—J. Parsons, Opposition, 1,131; Culpin, Government, 666.
Harbor Main (two seats)—Lewis, Opposition, 1,632; Walsh, Opposition, 1,480; Furry, Government, 1,466; Hon. W. J. Walsh, Government, 1,463 (two seats).
St. John's East—J. M. Tobin, Government, 1,261; T. Devine, Opposition, 931.
There are thirty-seven constituencies. The Government party is headed by Premier F. C. Alderdice.

SHELLY SILENT ON CAMPAIGN OF TAX COLLECTING

Dumb on Plans For Following Up Threat Against Delinquents

Just when Hon. W. C. Shelly, who has made a declaration of war on delinquent taxpayers, will fire the opening gun inquiries put to the Finance Minister fail to reveal.
Mr. Shelly announced his determination to go after residents of British Columbia who have failed to make their contributions to the provincial treasury on time in a speech in Vancouver in which he also said he would resign if he did not produce a surplus in British Columbia's accounts after this year.
Some time after his return to Victoria Mr. Shelly issued a further announcement in which he said he would wage war on the delinquents. Publication of their names in the B.C. Gazette would form part of his campaign.
"SHOT MY BOLT"
"I have shot my bolt on that and that is all I have to say about it," Mr. Shelly replied in answers to questions as to what methods he was taking to follow up his threat.
"I do not know," he replied when asked when he would publish his first list of delinquents. Mr. Shelly refused to be drawn further on his allegation that favoritism had been shown in the collection of income tax. He also claimed that he had no information at hand on the amount the treasury was behind in unpaid taxes.
The declaration of war apparently stands with no subsequent announcement of tax collecting manoeuvres.

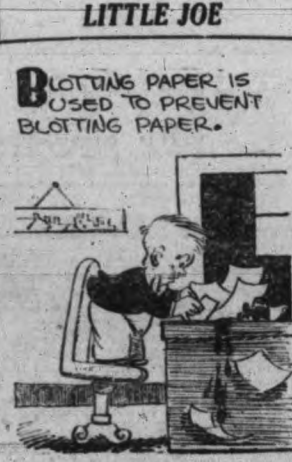

"MOVIE TONE" IS BROUGHT TO VICTORIA

The first "movietone" newsreel apparatus ever operated in Canada was to-day brought to Victoria for the purpose of filming the British Foreign Secretary, Sir Austen Chamberlain, who is now visiting the city. This "movietone" which records both in picture and voice the subject of its attention, was brought from the United States by two representatives of the Fox film service. They are traveling in a special automobile bearing the "movietone" machine.

REDUCED TARIFF RATE ON SEWING MACHINES URGED

Ottawa, Oct. 30.—Sewing machines and electric range accessories will be allowed to enter Canada at vastly reduced duty rates if applications argued before the Tariff Advisory Board here to-day are granted.
The general contention in support of a downward revision on these domestic articles was based on the claim that Canadian homes would be the principal beneficiaries.

H. J. Jenkins, M.P. for Queen's P.E.I., sponsored the application for a heavy cut in the present tariff of thirty per cent on sewing machines. He was supported by R. J. Doachman, representative of the Consumers League of Canada. There was no opposition to the reference.

How a simple daily health habit banished a persistent ailment

She was a victim of modern life, modern foods! Nearly always tired, depressed, headache—never just sick, never entirely well. Sluggish internal conditions allowed poisons to form in her system—kept her vitality at a low ebb. Laxatives were drastic, sickening and lost their power quickly.

Then a friend—a bright-eyed, clear-skinned, young-looking woman brimming with good health—told her own health secret. Simply a dash of Eno in a glass of water every morning. To-day—this lady will tell you she has just begun to enjoy life.

Eno's "Fruit Salt" is universally used as a pleasant, gentle and effective means of maintaining inner cleanliness—vigorous health. Eno acts safely and naturally—a wonderful, non-habit forming regulator.

SCHOOL BY-LAW GOES TO VOTERS

Council Agrees to Submit Technical School Plan at Civic Elections

Will Raise $145,000 to Obtain Technical School Costing $250,000

A technical school by-law, to raise $145,000 will be submitted to the voters of Victoria at the annual civic elections in December. The City Council last night unanimously approved a request from the school board for submission of the by-law after being assented by City Solicitor Pringle of possession of the requisite authority.

The new school will cost $200,000 to build and an additional $50,000 for equipment. Of this amount the Provincial Department of Education will provide $105,000; being $80,000 or forty per cent of the cost of the ground, brick buildings and $25,000 or one-half the cost of equipment.

PREMIER KING MEETS CABINET

Prime Minister Again at His Desk Following Return From Europe

Ottawa, Oct. 30.—Premier King, back in Ottawa after a stay of more than two months in Europe, returned to his office in the Parliament Buildings today. A meeting of the Cabinet, probably will be called for some day this week.

A number of senatorial vacancies and judicial appointments have awaited the return of Premier King. The date for the opening of Parliament remains to be fixed, but action in this respect is unlikely for some weeks.

GUEST AT DINNER

Last night Premier King, who returned to Ottawa yesterday from Quebec, his port of arrival from Great Britain, was guest of honor at a dinner tendered at Government House by Viscount Willingdon, Governor-General. As is customary at such functions at Rideau Hall, there were no speeches.

OTTAWA'S WELCOME

At noon yesterday official Ottawa extended its welcome to the returning Premier. Following a brief inspection of the 38th Highlanders' Band after his arrival, the Prime Minister was escorted by four bands to the City Hall. There Mayor Arthur Ellis welcomed Premier King back to Ottawa.

To the words of welcome the Prime Minister replied, stating how deeply he was touched. It was difficult, he said, to understand why the impression had been created that he had performed great services overseas. But, he continued, if there had been accomplishments it was largely because the Canadian delegates had been able to speak for the Dominion as a whole. Breathing a spirit of peace and goodwill, uttered by the Dominion's representative at Geneva, Paris and London, Premier King said his visit to Europe had impressed upon him the essentiality of making Canada's capital a city worthy of the whole Dominion.

Lonsdale Horse Wins at Newmarket

Newmarket, Eng., Oct. 30.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Lord Lonsdale's two-year-old bay filly Dauntless won the Critteron Stakes here this afternoon. A short head behind came Gerald Deane's Nuwara, Elita, the favorite, and third was Mrs. A. Sadler's Turps, five lengths back.

The betting was 6 to 5, 5 to 5 and 20 to 1. Only four juveniles went the six furlongs of the race, one of the late season cluster of two-year-olds. None of the three placed horses is in next year's Derby.

British By-election Won By Labor Party

Ashton-under-Lyne, Lancs., Eng., Oct. 30.—Albert Bellamy, Labor, was elected yesterday to represent the constituency of Ashton-under-Lyne in the House of Commons. The result of the by-election was a gain for the Labor Party. Mr. Bellamy succeeded C. W. Homan, Conservative, who was disqualified for failure to comply with the regulations of the House of Commons regarding bankruptcy.

The voting was as follows: Albert Bellamy, Labor, 9,567; Gordon Touche, Conservative, 7,161; W. Gilbert Greenwood, Liberal, 6,229.

The voting followed a lively campaign in which leaders of the three parties concerned participated either directly or indirectly. The result of the 1924 vote was: C. W. J. Homan, Conservative, 8,971; C. L. Malone, Labor, 7,451; H. T. Greenwood, Liberal, 6,229.

After the count had been announced, Bellamy said the result showed the workers tired of the Conservative Government, while on the other hand the Liberals to win the seat in spite of their tremendous efforts, and the personal popularity of their candidate showed there was no hope of a Liberal revival.

The Liberal candidate asserted the result of the by-election was further proof of the need of reform of the grotesque anomaly whereby members are returned by a minority of the electors. The Conservative candidate attributed his defeat entirely to the special circumstances under which the election was fought.

"The last year of a government's period of office is always an unfavorable moment for an election," he said. "The prolonged depression in the cotton and coal trades was also exploited by our opponents to attract votes to unsound policies designed for vote-catching rather than for industrial development."

A minute after the mayor of Ashton had read the complete results of the vote in the counting room, yellow rockets soared from the roof of the Town Hall, thus signalling Bellamy's victory to a crowd of many thousands who had been waiting in the rain on the market square for more than two hours.

The rocket signal was followed by a great burst of cheering.

MAYOR TAYLOR GIVES EVIDENCE

Prosecution Closes Case in Vancouver Trial of F. Casisa For Perjury

Vancouver, Oct. 30.—Aside from formal proof of the holding of the recent Vancouver police inquiry, Mayor L. D. Taylor and "Little Joe" Celona were the only prosecution witnesses called in the assault trial here today of Frank Casisa, charged with perjury at that inquiry.

Both the mayor and Celona denied Casisa's statement that he had seen the mayor "paralyzed drunk," at Celona's house.

This closed the prosecution's case at noon today and G. G. McGeer, K.C., then proceeded to call evidence in an attempt to break down the credibility of the prosecution witnesses. Mr. Justice Murphy ruled cross-examination as to Mayor Taylor's action upon examination of S. L. Lemm, report was not relevant as it did not affect his credibility, but only his judgment, which was not an issue to the trial.

Yesterday's session of the trial was featured by cross-examination of Mayor Louis D. Taylor for two hours on evidence adduced at the recent police inquiry. Going over testimony given at the inquiry, G. G. McGeer, K.C., counsel for the defence, secured an admission from the mayor that he had advanced from Shu Moy and his brother, Shuck Shy, with which to start The Critic, a weekly publication. "I made money in that venture and paid back the $500," Mayor Taylor told the court, adding that Shu Moy later contributed $50 toward his mayoralty campaign, but the six in the next election he refused assistance from that source.

The indictment under which Casisa appeared quoted the prisoner in testifying on May 23 that about two years previously he had taken six bottles of Chianti wine to the home of Joe Celona on Angus Avenue.

Major Taylor "drunk-paralyzed." Also that he had seen the mayor in Celona's house on a couple of other occasions. Direct denial of these statements admitted to have been made by Casisa in his testimony, was given by Mr. Taylor. The mayor said he knew Casisa by sight only, and described the only occasion on which he had visited Celona's house, namely, December 31, 1924, when he went in for a "New Year drink" with his host and fellow guests from next door. Further, Mayor Taylor declared, he had never been paralyzed drunk in his life. Up to that time he had known only one proprietor of a cigar and confectionery store.

Stepmother Of Clara Bow Seeks To Enter the U.S.

Calverton, Calif., Oct. 30.—The United States immigration office here received instructions yesterday from immigration authorities at Los Angeles directing that all files relative to Tui Lorraine Bow of Hollywood be forwarded to Vancouver, B.C.

Mrs. Bow, who in September was married to Robert Bow, father of Clara Bow of the movies, is believed to be in the Canadian city preparatory to making a second legal entry into the United States. She recently was ordered to leave the country by October 25 as the result of the expiration of her permit, having entered from New Zealand, her home.

At the result of Mrs. Bow's attorney stating in Los Angeles recently that the young woman probably would go to Mexico, Mexico, to make a re-entry, the files in the case were sent here. It was revealed that her plan was to re-enter the country in her status as the wife of a United States citizen.

Arthur Boutillier Dies in Montreal

Montreal, Oct. 30.—A. Boutillier, Halifax, former president of the Canadian Fisheries Association, died suddenly while playing golf here yesterday.

Mr. Boutillier, who was fifty-three years old, was president of the National Fish Company of Halifax and one of the most prominent leaders in that industry in Canada.

A past president of the Canadian Fisheries Association and at the time of his death, a director of the company, he played a large part in the campaign to popularize fish as a food.

WOUNDING OF MAN MYSTERY

A. E. Sommerton, Found Injured on Vancouver Street, Lies Near Death in Hospital

Vancouver, Oct. 30.—Despite all efforts of the police, mystery surrounds the case of A. E. Sommerton, manager of the Vancouver city incinerator, who was found lying terribly injured in the roadway at Main Street and Second Avenue at 1 a.m. Sunday.

Detectives have followed numerous false clues, and have failed to find any trace of the $245 Mr. Sommerton was said to have had in his possession when he left his home at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Little hope the injured man will recover consciousness and be able to tell how he was injured is held at the hospital.

AUTO MYSTERY

The mystery surrounding an accident to a car rented from an automobile livery Sunday morning is also unexplained. When the auto was towed to the livery garage it was found to be bloodstained. It was thought the car might have struck Sommerton, but investigation disclosed it had been rented thirty minutes after the injured man was picked up by police. The identity of the man who rented the car is still unknown.

NEW SETTLERS FOR B.C.

New Westminster, Oct. 30.—M. Hamerschlag, believed to be an emigration agent for the Swiss Government, who spent several days here recently, has secured options on several large farms in the Fraser valley and is conducting negotiations regarding the price on one block comprising 6,000 acres in Pitt Meadows, and several thousands acres at Sumas. He is known in Kamloops, but expects to return here November 1.

GOVERNMENT DISMISSES MacINNIS, VANCOUVER'S OFFICIAL ADMINISTRATOR

SEES FRICTION

The dismissal of Mr. MacInnis was necessary for the good of the civil service, the Attorney-General stated, intimating that friction between the department and the administrator had occurred lately and that it could be removed only with a complete change. No details of this friction were disclosed, but it has been known for a long time that Conservative members of the Legislature were strongly critical of Mr. MacInnis's appointment when it was made and since.

Mr. MacInnis has been a leading figure in the civil service for a decade. He entered the service in 1918, when the present Civil Service Act was introduced, as chief of the Civil Service Commission, in which office he exercised control of the entire service. In the Spring of 1926 he was succeeded by the present Commissioner, Arthur Cox, and he took over the post of Official Administrator in Vancouver, a much more lucrative position. He has held the Vancouver post since that time.

Mr. MacInnis's chief work in the service was the inauguration of the Civil Service Act, the institution of a new system of grading civil servants and the commencement of the existing superannuation system.

TO LEAVE TO-MORROW

The administrator will leave office to-morrow, the last day of October, and his work will be carried on temporarily by his officials until a new appointment is made.

Mr. MacInnis's retirement follows the dismissal yesterday of J. F. Dougherty, Superintendent of Insurance, on grounds of economy. Mr. Pooley estimates that he will save $4,000 through the dismissal of Mr. Dougherty and with the saving on Mr. MacInnis's expenses a worth while economy will be effected, the Attorney-General believes.

German experts estimated it as 100 miles.

COURSE CHANGED

At 5 o'clock Eastern Standard Time, last evening (2 p.m. yesterday Victoria time) the liner was reported at 42.30 North, 54.50 West, or about 750 miles east of Chatham, Mass. At that time she appeared on a course that would carry her over a southerly route toward the Azores. During the night, however, Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander, apparently found it advisable to change his course in order to take advantage of more favorable winds and at midnight the Graf Zeppelin was reported about 250 miles northwest of Cape Race, Newfoundland. The dirigible reported there was a southeast gale, but that all was well on board.

Radio messages received from the Zeppelin at 1.40 a.m. today said: "Position at 10 o'clock last night Greenwich Time (2 p.m. yesterday Victoria time): 42 degrees and 30 minutes north latitude, 54 degrees and 50 minutes west longitude; speed 120 kilometres. Wind scale eight."

This would indicate that reports that the airship had passed over Newfoundland shortly after 5 p.m. yesterday were erroneous since at that hour she was far to the south along the steamship lane.

At 4 p.m. today, Eastern standard time (1 p.m. Victoria time) the airship had been out of Lakehurst, New Jersey, slightly more than thirty-seven hours.

ROUGH VOYAGE

Weather reports to-day were none too favorable. The Zeppelin had driven most of the night with a gale howling behind her and there was every likelihood the rough weather would continue throughout the voyage. What apparently had mitigated against this, however, have been the favoring winds, and there were no reports from the dirigible which indicated the stormy conditions were bothering her unduly.

SIXTY ABOARD

The dirigible is carrying twenty passengers, including one woman, and a crew of forty.

MORNING REPORT

Friedrichshafen, Oct. 30.—A radio message received from the dirigible Graf Zeppelin at 9.30 a.m. today said that at 6 a.m. the airship passed here from Lakehurst, New Jersey, was 250 miles northwest of Cape Race, Newfoundland. All was well on board.

Despite prevailing weather conditions along the North Atlantic steamship lanes, Director-General Colmann of the Zeppelin Works said today that he counted on the arrival of the airship here late Wednesday afternoon.

Colmann said the vicinity of Basle, Switzerland, was best suited for a mid-European Zeppelin aerodrome. He pointed out that favorable weather conditions prevailed there the year round and that suggested that the Rhine Valley as an ideal place for the converging dirigible traffic of the future.

GREAT INTEREST IN GERMANY

Berlin, Oct. 30.—All Germany once more is in a state of frenzied expectancy over the return flight of the dirigible Graf Zeppelin. This is viewed by the popular mind as furnishing an acid test of the claim of dirigibles to indicate the position of the dirigible several times a day and also to reply to official queries, which would give the public at least a minimum quota of news of the flight.

FREQUENT REPORTS

No recurrence of public resentment such as was caused by the news monopoly during the flight to the United States is expected in connection with the return trip. The Ministry of Transportation instructed Dr. Eckener to indicate the position of the dirigible several times a day and also to reply to official queries, which would give the public at least a minimum quota of news of the flight.

PLAN STEPS TO SECURE RAIL LANDS

RAILWAY PLANS

The old Government had planned to use the Peace River Block to subsidize the construction of a railway into the Peace River country as an extension of the P.G.E. The Government being defeated at the polls, this scheme has not been heard of since, and apparently that is all that has happened. The return of the Peace River Block to the Province depended upon such a railway deal no one here appears to know.

SIR AUSTEN CHAMBERLAIN

THE CITIZENS OF VICTORIA VERY naturally are glad that Sir Austen Chamberlain and his family were able to arrange to enter Canada on their way home to England at this port. They are pleased to learn that the distinguished statesman has regained much of the strength he had lost and that he feels very nearly ready to resume the arduous and exacting duties which belong to the high office he holds.

It is unfortunate, and we may be sure Sir Austen feels that way about it himself, that the present condition of our distinguished visitor's health will not permit him to make a more leisurely journey across the Dominion. He would have been more in his element no doubt if he could have addressed some of our public bodies, if he could have gone about in search of information and met more of the Canadian people; but his medical adviser decreed otherwise.

Although Sir Austen has not allowed himself to be interviewed and has refrained completely from saying anything about any subject outside of that of his health and the hospitality which has been extended to him wherever he has gone, it can be assumed that the energy he has stored up in consequence has not been latent by any means. We may take it that he has asked many questions about the possibilities of this Pacific Coast, about its future in relation to the various processes of development in the Orient, a subject which appears to be only indifferently appreciated or understood by many in the Old World. We do not put Sir Austen in this category. His memorable declaration with respect to Chinese aspirations nearly two years ago reflected a breadth of vision which obviously was not lost upon the Orient itself. He is now a visitor in the first and last part of call for the great liners which bear Canada's trade and commerce across the Pacific. He probably has been told that only a comparatively few years ago this trade was negligible; but he will realize from the extraordinary developments of the last quarter of a century that in the not distant future the Pacific will challenge the Atlantic for commercial supremacy.

In these developments Canada in general and British Columbia in particular will play a very important part; but on the south of the forty-ninth parallel lies a powerful rival which is striving for commercial supremacy in the Orient. This need neither discourage nor disconcert Canada; it should act as an incentive for greater activities on her part. This Dominion already is increasing her trade with Pacific countries, her commercial treaties with Australia and New Zealand furnishing the impetus for continual expansion.

It is realized in Canada, however, that British industrialists, with profit to themselves and to this country, should be availing themselves of more of the advantages of trade development which Canada offers by reason of her strategic commercial position, her proximity to markets the demands of which will increase from year to year.

As we have suggested, Sir Austen no doubt has given considerable attention to these and other matters while he has been on this coast, and although we may have to wait a little while for the impressions which he has received, it can be taken for granted that when he speaks of them he will advise more of his colleagues to complete their education with a trip to the Pacific Coast. He probably will tell them also that they should tour the United States—to give themselves an opportunity of obtaining a better knowledge of the American people, their views, and their attitude towards world affairs.

BREAKING BUSINESS RECORDS

WE ARE TOLD IN A DISPATCH FROM Ottawa that five new records in car loadings were established in September. The total of 422,421 loaded cars, although there were five weekly periods, was the largest in the history of Canadian railways. It also is pointed out that the increase of 72,696 over the corresponding month of last year stands without even a close parallel. Nor has the weekly average of 84,485 cars any precedent, nor has 94,631 for the week ending on September 22, nor the total of 186,918 for the closing two weeks of the month. For the fortnight ending with September 29, it is explained, there was an increase of 8,783 loaded cars in the eastern division and 20,885 in the western division.

These facts indicate clearly how prosperous Canada is. There is no argument against loaded cars. Blue-ruin talk just rolls off them like water from a duck's back. Yet Mr. Bennett has been going about the country trying to convince the Canadian people that the Dominion is in a very bad state indeed and will so remain until the present Government in charge at Ottawa shall be replaced by one led by himself.

But the Conservative leader's political cry is obsolete. When Mr. Meighen used it in 1925 it seemed to fool a few. In 1926 the hollowness of it enabled the electorate to see through it. The figures to which we have referred furnish ample evidence of a flourishing state of affairs that needs no political embellishment to emphasize it.

GET ON THE REGISTER

THOSE WHO HAVE NOT YET QUALIFIED for the privilege of voting at the municipal elections in December have until five o'clock to-morrow afternoon to attend to the necessary formality at the City Hall. At that time the lists will be closed and those who have not registered will not be permitted to cast a ballot on December 13.

For some years now the list has not been anything like as representative as it should have been, nor has the vote on election day been as large as it ought to have been. Apathy towards civic affairs never will be interpreted by outsiders as an advertisement for a progressive spirit. On that account alone as well as for other reasons this year's roll should contain more names, and more voters should turn out on election day.

BAD NEWS FOR MR. BALDWIN

ONE OF THE MOST SERIOUS REVERSES the Baldwin Government has had in the last two years occurred in the important borough constituency of Ashton-under-Lyne yesterday, when the Labor Party captured a seat that has been held by a Conservative for the last thirty years with the exception of the period between 1906—when the Liberals carried practically everything before them—and 1910. Mr. Albert Bellamy, Labor, polled 9,567 votes; Mr. Gordon Touche, Conservative, 7,151; Mr. W. G. Greenwood, Liberal, 6,874. In the general elections of 1924 the Conservative vote was 8,971, the Labor 7,451, and the Liberal 6,292. It thus will be seen that the victor in yesterday's contest increased the Labor vote by more than two thousand, the Liberal his vote by nearly six hundred, while the Government candidate dropped more than eighteen hundred.

It should be noted that neither in the general elections of 1918 nor in 1922 did the Liberal Party enter a candidate. In the byelection of 1920, however, when Sir Walter de Frece, as a Coalition Unionist, won the seat with a majority of a little more than seven hundred over the Laborite, the Liberal vote was only 3,511; this grew to 7,574 in 1923, dropped to 6,292 in 1924, rising again yesterday to 6,874. In other words, there appears to be very little difference in the political complexion of the riding as between Liberal and Labor. Since 1920, moreover, excluding 1922, when the Conservatives won a straight fight against Labor's candidate, the seat has been held by the Conservative Party with a substantial minority vote. Indeed, in constituencies where all three parties had candidates in the last general election and in the byelections, the results of the byelections since the first of 1927 have been as follows:

	Lib.	Lab.	Con.
General elections, 1924	84,309	78,052	141,638
Byelections	97,416	82,258	119,005

From the above comparisons it will be observed that the Liberals have increased their votes by 13,207, the Laborites by 7,206, while the Government Party has dropped 22,633.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

CANADIAN MINISTERS ABROAD

The Manitoba Free Press

We make the prediction that the next Conservative Government of Canada will open additional Canadian legations. That Government will not be headed by Mr. Bennett unless he can learn or be taught in the interval that the British Commonwealth is not an Empire in which the government of one particular part controls all the other parts, and speaks and acts for them in external contracts, but is a brotherhood of kindred nations, each of which will be expected, in increasing measure as time goes on, to attend to its own affairs and carry its own loads.

CANADA'S APPETITE FOR AUTOMOBILES

The Toronto Star

Canada produced more motor cars and trucks (and of a greater value) in the first eight months of 1928 than in the whole of 1927.

Canada imported more motor cars and trucks (and of a greater value) in the first eight months of 1928 than in the whole of 1927.

The prophesied saturation of the market has not come to pass. One of the signs of Canada's prosperous times is her absorption of home-produced and foreign-produced automobiles.

For the eight months ended with August, Canada's production was as follows:

	Number	Value
For sale in Canada	129,658	$94,357,049
For export	51,801	21,852,292
Total production	181,459	$116,209,341

Eliminating the automobiles produced for export, and including instead those imported for the Canadian market, the number made available in eight months for sale in the Dominion has been as follows:

	Number	Value
Produced in Canada for the home market	129,658	$94,357,049
Imported	38,899	33,042,315
Available for Canadians	168,556	$127,399,364

In eight months the Canadian market has been supplied with motor cars and motor trucks to the extent of $127,000,000—factory valuation. And the market will take them. Canada is exceedingly prosperous.

B.C. RESOURCES OFFER CHANCES FOR YOUNG MEN

Premier Points to Great Openings in Other Spheres

Outlines Opportunities in Talk Before Emmanuel Baptist Church Forum

Urging young men of British Columbia to take a second look around before deciding there was no chance for them to get ahead in this Province, Hon. S. F. Toimie last night addressed the Emmanuel Baptist Church forum on the subject "Opportunities for Young Men in British Columbia."

"This is a subject that interests us all. We are all anxious to know what chances there are for our own young men within the confines of our own Province," he said.

"We hear of people pioneering in British Columbia these days, but comparing these with the old-time pioneers is really a joke. The latter day pioneers are what I call the gasoline-age pioneers."

Mr. Toimie referred to the early Eastern idea of British Columbia as "a sea of mountains," the development of the C.P.R. and the improvement of the coast in recent years.

The Premier compared British Columbia's huge area with that of three United States to the South. The population of British Columbia was only small in comparison.

"We should rather train our young people to develop our resources than go in for professions," he declared.

"Let us look at the opportunities open for them," he said.

"Are we making the best use of our range lands?" he asked. "The four states to the south of us are using about sixty per cent of their range as compared with British Columbia's six per cent."

Mr. Toimie quoted figures on meat exports to British Columbia, which he declared could all have been produced in the Province.

SHEEP-RAISING
Dealing with opportunities in sheep-raising, the Premier urged great development in this direction.

The Premier outlined the huge extent of British Columbia's mineral wealth, pointing out that production from mines last year was over $70,000,000.

SULLIVAN MINE
He referred in particular to the Sullivan Mine, development of which had been greatly aided by electric power and the oil flotation process in smelting.

The timber wealth of the Province was next dealt with by the speaker. He suggested a survey of their lands to decide which areas were suitable for agriculture and which only for further timber growth.

A method of reforestation could then be carried out on these latter sections.

LOOKS INTO FUTURE
The Premier said he did not believe in a policy of only taking care of present-day demands and not providing for the future.

British Columbia last year contributed forty-six per cent of the Dominion's fish products, said Dr. Toimie.

SALMON PRESERVATION
"Something must be done, however, for co-operation between United States fishermen and British Columbia fishermen in the preservation of salmon in the Fraser River," he said.

From 6,000,000 to 8,000,000 horsepower in water was now available in the Province, stated the Premier, discussing the opportunities for development in this direction. This amount could easily be doubled or trebled without passing the total which could be made available.

The Premier mentioned various waterpower sites in the Province which had not yet been developed. He suggested the linking up of some of the larger interior developments to provide a power chain from the Crown Nest Pass to the coast.

TOURIST TRAFFIC
Dr. Toimie made special reference to tourist traffic.

"You can sell scenery to one fellow one year and it is still there next year to sell to another one," he said.

The speaker pointed out that the Orient offers to British Columbia was sketched by the Premier. Fish, lumber and dairy products were already going that way.

British Columbia also had water routes open to all the Pacific and also, via the Panama Canal, to Europe and the East coast.

British Columbia's harbors, open the whole year round, were splendid assets.

TAKE ADVANTAGE
"If one is willing to take advantage of these opportunities I have mentioned, there is no reason why they should not succeed. If these resources are developed, other business which I have not touched upon will open up."

"Therefore I say a young man should think twice before he decides there is no chance for him in the Province. Prosperity is with us and conditions are getting better. We are riding on a wave of progress."

B.C. TOUR WILL BE TALK TOPIC

Miss Eva Hassel to Tell of Sunday School Caravan Work in Province

Caravan Sunday School work in Northern British Columbia, which took two ladies by foot, over 300 miles through the Peace River Block and 3,000 miles by motor truck will be the subject of an illustrated lecture by Miss Eva Hassel at the Memorial Hall, Vancouver Street, to-night.

Slimy mud and thunderstorms, floods and heavy bush were obstacles faced by Miss Hassel and her companion, Miss Sayer, in their "Sunday School by Post" tour through the Peace River Block. Farmhouses along the way were visited and the two managers dropped in at schoolhouses to talk to the children after their lessons.

St. Rev. C. D. Schofield, Bishop of Columbia, will be chairman of the meeting, which will start at 8.15 o'clock. Miss Hassel has an interesting collection of lantern slides showing her experiences during her travels.

LABORITE WINS COMMONS SEAT

Under A. W. Hood and J. Waterson, sale of Vetscar poppies, manufactured by disabled soldiers for Armistice Day, is now going forward rapidly. Headquarters for the poppy campaign have been established at 615 Johnson Street.

A special effort is being made this year to set a record in the sale of poppies to business firms, stores and individuals in the city, this being the tenth anniversary of the cessation of hostilities.

The final appeal to citizens will be made on Saturday, November 10, when the Poppy Tag Day will be held.

LABORITE WINS COMMONS SEAT

London, Oct. 30.—"It is a most welcome victory," said Ex-Premier Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the Labor Party of Great Britain, speaking of the return of Albert Bellamy, Labor candidate, in the Commons by-election in the constituency of Ashton-under-Lyne, Lancashire, yesterday.

"It shows the industrial constituencies are going to be solidly behind us and it is also a promise of what will happen next year."

AT THE THEATRES

BETTY COMPSON IS LEADING LADY NOW
HERE AT CAPITOL

George Bancroft has an exceedingly strong supporting cast in "The Docks of New York," which is showing at the Capitol Theatre for three days.

The cast is headed by Betty Compsen, who returns to the Paramount fold after a long absence. Another screen luminary is Bacia Dava, who is rapidly winning the highest honors in film work. This Russian actress has had an interesting and colorful career.

She has had ten years of brilliant stage experience. She was born in Moscow, Russia, and was educated in the Moscow Institute. At the age of ten she was allowed to attend the rehearsals at the Moscow Little Theatre.

unless things improve. Of course, their daughter, who prided herself in the fact that her parents were the sweetest and happiest couple alive, is shocked and seeing the cat and dog life they are leading, she makes up her mind that her life shall not be the same. So a happy reconciliation with her husband takes place and the hour and a quarter play ends happily with the old couple back in each other's arms after their temporary estrangement and the young couple promising that forever they will be true to one another and that they will not quarrel. All the Coliseum stage favorites are well cast this week and the stage attraction is bound to prove most enjoyable to all who see it.

On the screen this week at the Coliseum is "Half a Bride."

This story concerns the kidnapping of a girl in a yacht, which is later wrecked on the rocky coast of British Columbia.

ALICE JOYCE IS

AT THE COLUMBIA

Majorie Daw, Alice Joyce and Clive Brook, head the exceptionally fine cast appearing at the Columbia Theatre in "The Passionate Adventure," the feature screen attraction there for three days this week. The film will have its last showing to-morrow evening. Filmed by Graham Cutts, the story is woven around a married woman who does not fulfill her marital obligations. She marries for a purely selfish reason, to have a good time, for social position, but, of course, finds her mistake before the picture finishes. Alice Joyce is an ideal choice as the married woman, up-to-top in the social register, but a failure as a wife. Clive Brook appears as the husband. It is an absorbingly interesting problem play, magnificently staged.

NEW YORK SETTING

FOR STORY AT THE

DOMINION THEATRE

The regeneration of an East Side boxer, through the travail of war and the love of a woman, is the graphic story of First National's "The Patent Leather Kid," now at the Dominion Theatre after a long Broadway run.

"The Patent Leather Kid" stars Richard Barthelmess, and is an ideal vehicle for the artistry of this young screen star whose work in "Tollable David," "Broken Blossoms" and "Way Down East" will never be forgotten. In "The Patent Leather Kid," Barthelmess is said to exceed even his finest efforts in these former vehicles.

It also offers a new screen star, Molly O'Day, who plays opposite Barthelmess and who has proved a find by her clever work in this picture.

LAURA LA PLANTE

HAS STELLAR ROLE

AT THE PLAYHOUSE

Laura La Plante, Universal's beautiful blonde star, will be seen on the screen of the Playhouse Theatre this week in her latest release, "Silk Stockings."

This is a story which is admirably suited to Miss La Plante's unique talent as a comedienne. She has always scored her greatest successes in light fare and "Silk Stockings" is an ideal vehicle.

Miss La Plante became a comedienne by chance. Her first real roles were leads in very serious Western melodramas in which she played the innocent country girl beset by the villain and all his henchmen.

Mary Astor will also appear on the Playhouse screen this week in "Three Ring Marriage," the First National story of the "big top."

DR. T. REINACH

DIES IN PARIS

Paris, Oct. 30 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency)—Theodore Reinach, sixty-eight, died to-day. Mr. Reinach has been professor at L'Ecole des Hautes Etudes Sociales since 1903, and was known as one of the foremost authorities on comparative religion and Hellenic literature. He visited the United States in 1919.

EARTH SHOCKS IN CALIFORNIA

Calzeico, Cal., Oct. 30—A slight earthquake of three seconds duration was felt here at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. No damage was done. The tremor was reported more severe in Eucentro, ten miles north of here, but no damage was reported from that city.

WORLD PRESS CONGRESS

San Francisco, Oct. 30—Robert Bell, president of the Press Congress of the World, yesterday announced that the next session of the congress would be held at Ottawa, Canada, in July, 1929. Bell is New Zealand publisher, is in San Francisco on a visit. Decision to hold the meeting at Ottawa was made by him after receiving telegraphic approval from members of the executive committee of the organization.

IMPORTED WOLVES

KILLED IN ONTARIO

Cobalt, Ont., Oct. 30—Following their trip to Ontario from California to provide Canadian color for a "wild life film," two trained wolves were executed at Villamare by a farmer who found them robbing his henyard.

The animals were awaiting shipment at the railway station when they escaped from their crate. True to the instinctive instincts of their species, they immediately searched for themselves a large fat hen, but the farmer heard the noise and intervened.

TOOK THE HEART OUT OF HIM

'FRUIT-A-TIVES' Restored Vim and Vigor

What a blessing "Fruit-a-tives" proves to those worn out and weary by the day's work. A blood purifier, a builder of health and strength, this marvelous medicine, made of an extract from fruit juices, combined with the finest medicinal ingredients, is just what is needed to regulate bowels, kidneys and skin—sharpen the appetite—steady the nerves—and restore the whole system to its former vigor and vitality. As Mr. John G. Ringham, Wyndol, B.C., writes: "My nerves were completely gone and I was so tired out and run-down that work seemed impossible. Since taking 'Fruit-a-tives' I am eager to work and life is worth living again."

One cannot realize, until he has gone through the mill, how fine it is to be well again. One may present good health to "Fruit-a-tives." Try it, 25c and 50c a box—at dealers everywhere. (Adv.)

Wilkinson Road Church Supper

A very successful anniversary supper was held on Friday evening by the Ladies' Aid of the Wilkinson Road United Church, under the able direction of the president, Mrs. A. E. Campbell. About 150 persons sat down to the bountiful supper provided by the ladies of the congregation.

The schoolroom of the church, where the tables were spread, was beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums, garlands of roses and autumn leaves, the work of Mrs. W. J. Jones and her helpers. Later, the guests assembled in the church, where the pastor, Rev. H. A. Ireland presided. A programme arranged by Mrs. H. S. Pringle and Mrs. E. Etheridge, consisting of short addresses by Rev. A. L. Nixon, Rev. W. P. McHaffie, Rev. Thos. Kerworth, and Rev. J. P. Westman. Vocal solos, violin selections, recitations and selections by the male quartette were much enjoyed.

MARITIMES HAVE DISTINCT PROBLEM

Toronto Women Hear Nova Scotia M.P. on Conflicting Interests

Toronto, Oct. 30.—Expressing the desire of the people of the Maritime Provinces, especially Nova Scotia, to join with the rest of the Dominion in the task of building a greater Canada, James L. Hiley, M.P. for Hants-Kings, N.S., addressed the Women's Canadian Club of Toronto yesterday on "Present Day Problems in the Maritime Provinces."

He stressed the need for reciprocal trade agreements with foreign countries, especially the United States, in order that the Maritimes might find suitable markets for their products. The central and Western Canadian markets were too distant for maritime products, he said, and markets had to be secured elsewhere.

Nova Scotians felt that they should be protected from cheaper United States coal. The success of industry in Toronto was built by the use of cheap American coal which was close and easily obtained, and which lessened the demand for Nova Scotia coal.

CONFLICTING INTERESTS

"Though the attitude of the Nova Scotian is for protection, British Columbia producers seek abolition of duties on coal and want it placed on the free list."

The old story of conflicting interests is apparent. Mr. Hiley said, "one part of Canada demanding one thing, while another part wants the opposite. Nova Scotians claim that so long as Ontario goods are protected, the goods of the Maritimes should also be protected."

The Government of Canada should be careful in its dealing with foreign countries and in establishing trade treaties and should do nothing to disrupt but should try to establish foreign trade, he said.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

THE AVERAGE AGE WHEN BABY CAN WALK

The ability to walk alone depends upon various elements, chief of which is the whole picture of the child's general development up to the age of walking. First his ability to sit alone, to stand with support, to make steps with help, and to creep or crawl or hunch along as the case may be. If he has an inordinate amount of attention from a pampering family, or his mother shrieks in fear each time he tumbles over, these will naturally contribute to his lack of necessity for making the effort to walk, and his own fears of consequences if he does.

The present general tendency to put small babies in walkers is one of the outstanding reasons for late walking. I am constantly astonished at the almost universal complaint that, "My baby has been running all over the house in a walker since he was eight months old, and he is fifteen now and is still afraid to walk alone." Only the ages in the histories vary.

The way to learn to walk is to stand upright on one's feet and make steps. At first the child will have to be assisted by someone's hands or a chair or other support, but he soon finds in what way he must balance himself in order to win the admiring plaudits of his audience. His kinesthetic senses learn the "feel" of successful walking and some day he spurs the helping hands and starts off on his own. LATE WALKING INDICATIVE OF MENTAL BACKWARDNESS

He learns nothing by sitting on a seat working his feet and hanging on to a rod, for never in his whole life will he walk in that way. There is little sense in practicing a method of locomotion for which the child will have no use.

The ability to walk appears normally between the twelfth and fourteenth months. The more alert and intelligent the child, providing his general development has not been hampered, the earlier he will walk. Late walking is late talking to hand in hand, for unless the baby has been injured at birth, or has been badly undernourished or is suffering from an undetected case of rickets, very late walking is indicative of mental backwardness. This, coupled with inability to talk until long past the average age, makes the picture very accurate.

H. L. Hollingworth in his "Mental Growth and Decline," gives the average age at which gifted children walk as 12.8 months; the average for normal or slightly higher than normal children, 13.9 months; and for feeble-minded, 23.1 months. He sums up the following points in this manner:

(a) The gifted walk and talk earlier and the feeble-minded later than the normal individual.

(b) Walking comes before talking, except in the case of the gifted; this precocity of talking is significant of their general mental level.

(c) Without exception, variability in talking is greater than walking; the feeble-minded more backward in talking than in walking, as the general law of human diversity would have led us to anticipate.

NURSING SERVICE ELECTS OFFICERS

Esquimalt Organization Pre- pares For Another Active Year

Colwood, Oct. 30.—The ninth annual meeting of the Esquimalt Rural Nursing Service was held last evening in Colwood Hall, there being a very good attendance. E. P. Ashe, president, presided and presented the report of the council for the year ending October 31.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, E. P. Ashe; first vice-president, M. A. Morrow; second vice-president, Mrs. R. Brown; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. C. W. Little; Mrs. S. Goucher; representing Langford, Miss Savory, W. T. Dixon, W. Pearce; representing Albert Head, Mrs. J. Saltmarsh, E. P. Ashe, A. G. Deveson; representing Luxton and Happy Valley, M. A. Morrow, Mrs. R. Brown, Mrs. S. Hutchinson.

Dr. Irene Barlow Hudson, medical adviser to the council, addressed the audience, from the point of view of school medical inspection, stating that never at any time had the health of the school children shown such a high standard; feeble-mindedness being entirely absent. Dr. Hudson drew attention to the high standard of health essays and posters, exhibited at the annual Health Day, which was ample evidence that the children had benefited from the teachings received.

In conclusion, Dr. Hudson stated that physical exercises in the schools should find a more prominent part than they do at present.

The next speaker, Dr. David Berman, superintendent of the Saanich Health Centre, congratulated the Nursing Service on the progress it had made during the last year. Dr. Berman dealt at length with many phases of child health, urging the parents to secure good health once it is attained. This is the sole object of the Rural Nursing Service, he pointed out.

DR. YOUNG ATTENDS

Dr. H. E. Young, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, expressed pleasure at being present at another annual meeting of the Esquimalt Rural Nursing Service.

The president tendered her thanks to the officers and members for their loyal support, and also thanked the generous public who had supported the various undertakings of the organization.

Rural Nursing Service, and pleased to see the gratifying report. He stated children were the greatest asset the country possessed, urging the protection of that asset.

Dr. Young told of the progress of the public health movement in British Columbia, stating that in 1921 there was but one public health nurse in the Province, whereas at present there were forty-five and openings for many more qualified nurses.

LIFE INCREASED

Dr. Young pointed out that in the last twenty-five years the average national life had been increased from forty-one years in this country to fifty-eight years, while in New Zealand it had increased to sixty-five, which is the objective for British Columbia.

The speaker paid tribute to the Women's Institutes throughout the Province for their assistance in child welfare work.

In connection with the pre-school clinic, Dr. Young stated the next clinic would be held on Friday, November 9, at Langford and thereafter once monthly. Dr. D. Berman will preside. Greetings from the Women's Institutes throughout the Province were extended by the following: Mrs. V. S. McLachlan, Superintendent of Women's Institutes for British Columbia; Mrs. M. E. Noble of Hatzic, B.C., vice-president of the board of directors, Provincial Women's Institutes; Mrs. H. H. Pitts, treasurer of the board of directors, Provincial Women's Institutes; Mrs. H. H. William Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture.

The conclusion of the evening refreshments were served by Mesdames R. Brown and S. Hutchinson.

DAUGHTERS OF PITY REVIEW YEAR OF WORK

Annual Reports Shows Splendid Work Done For Children's Ward at Jubilee

Miss Sylvester was re-elected president by acclamation at the annual meeting of the Daughters of Pity held last night to the home of Miss Bannerman. Other officers were chosen as follows: Vice-president, Miss Thain; secretary, Miss Marion Stevenson; treasurer, Miss Hall; executive, Mrs. Macrae, Miss Couves and Miss Tait.

SPLENDID WORK

A wonderful year of quiet but effective work for the children's ward of the Royal Jubilee Hospital was reviewed in the annual report of the secretary, Miss Couves, which said, in part:

"We have welcomed seven new members during the year. Our new members have shown a decided interest and are willing workers, an interest we hope will not flag. All members should find no effort too great to help brighten the weary hours of the wee tots who have to enter the hospital for treatment."

"At Christmas time, as has been the custom of the society for many years, we decorated the children's ward at the Jubilee Hospital and bought gifts of toys and wearing apparel for each child in the ward. We have been relieved of our usual Christmas work in the other wards by new societies, which have undertaken to decorate and supply cheer to these wards."

"During the year we supplied the children's ward with dishes, one bolt of flannelette, one bolt of Canton flannel, bath towels, spreads, sheets and draw sheets, bolt of cotton. The ward was renovated, the walls were repainted. The Red Cross Work Shop repaired and repainted all furniture, beds and decorative wood work. A bed was placed in children's ward in memory of Miss Tait."

"At Easter time, the usual custom of sending lilies to the hospital was carried out, and each child received an Easter gift."

"On Hospital Day flowers were sent to the hospital. The society donated $5 to the Local Council of Women's day, $10 to the tag day of the Women's Auxiliary to the Jubilee Hospital and $5 to the armistice period committee. We also acknowledged a gift of $5 from Mrs. Lambert and a gift from George Jay School, $15."

FINANCES SOUND

The report touched upon the various methods adopted by the members to raise funds for carrying on their benevolent work, and also told of an enjoyable visit to Miss Jessie McKensie at Port Angeles.

Visitors for the month of November to the children's ward will include Miss P. May and Miss M. Stevenson. An appeal from the armistice committee

Face Peeler Reveals Beauty of Youth

To make your skin naturally lovely and to preserve this youthful beauty, use regularly a little pure mercurized wax, obtainable at any drug store. The wax gently peels off the outer layer of aged, or blemished skin, removing all such imperfections as pimples, freckles and dry, coarse skin. The new skin is then revealed clear, fresh, supple, with that lastingly lovely appearance of youth. Mercurized wax brings out the hidden beauty. To enhance reserve wrinkles and are slow, use a face lotion 1 ounce powdered sandal and 1 half pint of witch hazel. (Adv.)

CIRCLES BUSY ON CHARITABLE WORKS

King's Daughters Show Splendid Reports at Meeting

Reports of all circles working busily for their various philanthropic undertakings were given at the monthly district meeting of the King's Daughters, held in the rest room yesterday afternoon with Mrs. L. H. Hardie presiding. It was announced that the rest room had been open for twenty-four days during September, with 3,701 patrons.

A new circle, William Workers, has been formed among a number of girls, with the object of working for the children's ward at the Jubilee Hospital. Other circles are busy, having made two large quilts, also quilts for the Jubilee Hospital. Knitting is being done, as well as the usual charitable undertakings.

Hawthorne Circle will hold a sale of work and tea at 1423 Douglas Street on November 3, and the Ministering Circle will hold a similar function at the rest room on November 9. Flowers have been sent to sick members and a donation of $10 made to the Armistice Period Committee for poppies. The recent rummage sale netted $25, which is to be used for Christmas work.

The report of the hospital at Duncan, maintained by the order, showed that the general turnover for the last month was $2,791. A new boiler house and furnace have been installed, and an addition is being built to the nurses' home. The Ministering Circle have furnished a room, and the circles have sent their annual subscription of $10 to the hospital funds.

The four wheel chairs, maintained by the circles for the use of invalids have been much used lately.

Mrs. Mackay of Woodstock, Ontario, was welcomed as a visitor at yesterday's meeting.

Church of Our Lord Scene of Pretty Wedding

The marriage of Miss Gwendolyn Bennett Noel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Noel, to Mr. Valentine Alfred Dalby was solemnized Saturday evening in the Reformed Episcopal Church, Rev. Arthur de B. Owen officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gown in white taffeta, a bouffant model, embroidered in crystal, and wore a veil held with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of bridal roses and brambles. Her only ornament was a crystal necklace, a gift of the groom.

The four bridesmaids were gown in taffeta in bouffant style—Miss Inez Penner in blue, Miss Ethel Oswald in pink, Miss Ester Bean in peach and Miss Helen McWha (of Vancouver) in mauve. All carried bouquets to match their gowns. Iris and Shirley Noel, tiny sisters of the bride, dressed in peach taffeta and carrying colonial bouquets, were flower girls.

Pro Hockey Will Be More Popular Than Ever This Season

Revival of P.C.H.A. Will Pep Up Fans on Coast; Montreal Forum Reports Record Number of Inquiries That Will Insure Sell-outs For Both Maroons and Canadiens; Boston and Chicago to Open New Arenas; With Rangers Opening Season as World's Champions Game Is Bound to Thrive in U.S. Metropolis

Professional hockey interest this year is bound to be greater than ever if early season indications are taken as a criterion. With the Pacific Coast Hockey Association operating again this year after a lay-off of several seasons fans on the Pacific Coast will take an added interest in what is claimed to be the fastest game on earth.

From Montreal comes the report that the Forum has enough applications for the games to insure a sell-out for both the Maroons and Canadiens. Boston and Chicago with new arenas are looking forward to record seasons, and in New York, where the Rangers and Americans hold forth, there is a renewal of interest.

The fact that the Rangers start this season as world's champions is bound to add to the game in New York, while the Americans are certain to make a strong bid for honors if plans now under way come to pass.

Teams in the N.H.L. will swing into action on November 15, while the P.C.H.A. schedule opens on November 19.

Bert McNenry, another of the great group of youngsters, who, starting their careers with the Detroit Red Wings, proceeded to make history in Ottawa amateur athletics, led recently to join the Detroit Olympics professional hockey team.

All sports looked alike to Bert. A spectacular rugby player, star of the back of the Red Wings for four seasons, he made a rep as the best running back in Eastern Canada junior rugby. He captained many championship teams, and was a star in minor league basketball circles in Ottawa.

In hockey, his real career started with the Red Wings, where he was one of the leading scorers. He went from there to the Shamrocks seniors, played one season in Vermont, and came back to start on the Gunners' defense in the Ottawa Senior League last season. It was while with that team that he made his name as a professional.

It was while with that team that he made his name as a professional. He was a great favorite with sports fans in Winnipeg until he made the jump to salaried ranks. He was three years of age and weighs 200 pounds, being built on the rangy order of Red Dutton, former Winnipeg defense star.

Last year with Regina, Mulligan was the outstanding defense player in the loop and ranked fourth in the scoring with thirty-two points. He had a reputation for being a "big" player, and was a favorite with the fans. He was a great favorite with sports fans in Winnipeg until he made the jump to salaried ranks. He was three years of age and weighs 200 pounds, being built on the rangy order of Red Dutton, former Winnipeg defense star.

Dr. Blake Watson, captain of the Manitoba Varsity hockey team, Allan Cup holders, announced recently that despite current rumors to the contrary, he would not turn professional this fall. The fast-traveling left-winger has received many attractive offers from professional teams, but has turned a deaf ear to them all. He also received an invitation from the University of Minnesota to play in a similar capacity as he did a few years ago. His definite announcement will be well received in hockey circles, for Blake was one of the big noises on the Varsity front line.

Edmonton will be well represented in the ranks of the salaried puck-chasers when the curtain rises on this winter. Lefty Graves, Dan Camyan, and Paul Runge have reported to Pacific Coast teams, and two other boys, who have performed in the amateur loop in the past are leaving shortly to join their respective clubs.

August Marker, who held down the centre ice position for the Elks last season, and who was for several seasons with the Camrose team, has reported to Tulsa, Oklahoma, where he will try out with the American League club entry of that city.

Gabriel Hansen, who hails from Camrose, has also signed a contract with the same club. Hansen is a member of a family of athletes that has attained considerable fame in hockey circles, five brothers having starred in amateur hockey in the United States for several years.

Herman "Red" Runge, who played for several years with Edmonton amateur teams, and who was with the Winnipeg Maroons in the American League for the last two seasons, left Saturday for Vancouver, to join Frank Patrick's Lions in the new Pacific Coast League.

ARENA DOORS TO BE THROWN OPEN THURSDAY

Skaters Eagerly Awaiting Start of Winter Sessions; Band in Attendance

Manager Joe Smith and Three Victoria Players Arrive Here For Opening

Skaters in Victoria are eagerly waiting for Thursday night when the doors of the Willows Arena will be thrown open for the first skating sessions.

Stanley Patrick, manager of the Arena, stated this morning that skating would commence at 8.15 o'clock with the band starting a few minutes later.

Jimmy Miller has gathered together a good collection of musicians and all of the latest dance hits will be rendered for the benefit of the skaters.

Engineers started to make the ice last Saturday night and by the tomorrow night a fine sheet will be ready to greet the skating enthusiasts. Interest in skating seems more pronounced than for many years and good crowds are looked for by the Arena management.

PLAYERS HERE THURSDAY

"Smiling Joe" Smith, manager of the Victoria Cubs, will arrive in Victoria on Thursday accompanied by three of the Victoria players: Downie, Robertson and Leacock. The remainder of the team will not arrive here until November 5.

Downie and Robertson have been working out in Vancouver and are in good shape. Manager Smith will put his boys through some strenuous work-outs in order to get them in the best of condition for the stiff schedule they have to meet.

No doubt there will be a large crowd of railbirds on hand when the final practice is held. Local fans are anxious to see just how the boys are going to stack up and this will be a good opportunity to look over the players who will represent Victoria in the Pacific Coast Hockey Association.

GOES TO PHILLIES

LEFTY O'DOUL

Outfielder of the New York Giants, who has been traded to the Philadelphia National League Club for Outfielder Fred Leach. O'Doul, formerly a pitcher, was voted the most valuable player in the Pacific Coast League a few seasons ago.

PHILLIES GET LEFTY O'DOUL

Giants Trade Outfielder For Fred Leach, Another Outer Garden Player

New York, Oct. 30.—Announcement of the trade of Frank "Lefty" O'Doul and an unnamed amount of money to the Philadelphia Nationals for Fred M. Leach was made by the New York Giants yesterday.

Both players involved are hard hitting outfielders. O'Doul played last season with the Giants for the first time, while Leach has been with the Phillies since 1923 with the exception of a year's vacation in the minors.

O'Doul is thirty-one years old and Leach twenty-eight. The Giant, who bats and throws left-handed, was used to good effect against right-hand pitching and in 106 games compiled a batting average of .318.

Leach, a left-handed batsman but right-handed thrower, was out of the select 300 class for the first time last season, winding up the season with an average of .298.

A CONVERTED PITCHER

O'Doul is a converted pitcher having hurried for the Yankees before going to the Pacific Coast League and taking regular assignments as an outfielder. He was drafted from San Francisco by the Giants at the close of the 1927 season after being voted the Coast League's most valuable performer.

Art Jahn, drafted by the Giants from Los Angeles at the same time, was sent to the Phillies during the 1928 season.

Charles Knapp Succeeds Dunn As Orioles Head

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 30.—Charles H. Knapp, counsel for the late Jack Dunn and the Baltimore Orioles, yesterday was elected president of the baseball club to succeed Dunn who died last week. Knapp announced that, following upon an appraisal of the club's holdings, the company would be open for bids.

as well. But Eddie is once more back in the fold. It means that we are going to see Shore disport up and down that new Madison Square Garden ice as very few in the ice game can. But don't believe them. Without hockey and such players as Eddie Shore the millionsaire who compose the Madison Square corporation have to look elsewhere for their dividends.

Writing in The Boston Post, Arthur Duffey gives Eddie Shore, well-known Alberta farmer, and calls the "Babe Ruth of hockey" by the scribes of the cultured city, a nice boost as follows: "Hockey will soon be king. The signing of Eddie Shore gave us a chance for the coming season gave us a chance to think of something else besides football these warm gridiron days. Eddie gave us a little apprehension as to whether he would be in the Bruin's line-up again this winter. He was thought to be a hold-out, not only among hockey fans but by Owner Charley Adams and Manager Art Ross.

FOLLOWS IS WINNER

Wichita, Kas., Oct. 30.—Patsy Pollock, Winnipeg, scored a technical knockout over Fred Whittington, Oklahoma City, in the seventh round of their eight-round bout here last night.

These first eighteen-hole matches are nightmares for the champions, ex-champions and new near-champions, who have more to lose than the up-and-coming stars. In the 1928 championship at Breunburn George Von Elm, highly favored as a finalist, was eliminated in the first round, and Bobby Jones, who won his fourth amateur title later in the week, almost fell by the wayside in the second round, going nineteen holes before he was lucky enough to shake off the tenacious R. R. George.

At Minikahda, in 1927, George Von Elm lost his second round match, and Jones barely stepped by. The executive committee will have to find a better plan than that adopted in 1923, when only sixteen were permitted to qualify for the championship, leaving the sixteen holes, as opposed to the present plan of disposing of the first two rounds at eighteen.

Two Leafs from the West—By Jimmy Thompson

Connie Smythe has been searching far and wide over the Canadian sport horizon for new hockey material and he has found it. For recently it was announced that the Canadian West had contributed one of her finest athletes to the pro ranks of the Toronto Maple Leafs—Andy Blair.

Andy has the reputation of being the Canadian West's most versatile athlete. For he has excelled in the gridiron game of push and shove and knows no superiors in the half-line. He has also excelled in the game of hockey, and has been a star in the Hamilton pro team after he came from Port Arthur, and from there he graduated to the Leafs.

Danny Cox is also a Middle West man. In Danny's first year he finished among the first thirty players out of 150 players in the National League. He might possibly have done better only he met with an accident and was forced out of the game. He received his first pro training with the Hamilton pro team after he came from Port Arthur, and from there he graduated to the Leafs.

French Fighter Gives Canzoneri A Hard Battle

New York, Oct. 30.—Gaston Charles, of France, gave Tony Canzoneri all kinds of trouble in a ten-round bout at the Olympic A.C. last night but the former featherweight champion of the world failed to land a close decision on the finish.

Gaston, a willing and game mixer, forced Canzoneri to travel at top speed to earn the decision. The Frenchman was always coming in, landing often to the body but, the New Yorker was entitled to the verdict in the basis of his cleaner punching.

U.S.G.A. to Discuss Maximum Length For Championship Match

Opinion is Divided; 18-Hole Matches Nightmares to Champions

New York, Oct. 30.—Meetings of the executive committee of the United States Golf Association are just as executive as the name implies, but W. M. Macmillan and H. Savage, U.S.G.A. members, are to discuss at the autumn meeting in New York, November 22, it is just as certain as a six-inch putt that the executive committee will talk of the best maximum length for a championship golf match, eighteen holes versus thirty-six.

The matter has been discussed before, but few golf followers would be surprised to see something done about it before the 1929 championship is held at Del Monte, California, the week of September 2. There are many of the rank and file, as well as the powers that be, who would like to see the "championship" matches at thirty-six holes, as opposed to the present plan of disposing of the first two rounds at eighteen.

HELEN WILLS AND COCHET TOP RANKINGS

Listed as Leading Tennis Players in World; Bill Tilden Drops Down

Cochet Succeeds Countryman Rene Lacoste; Lili De Alvarez Second Woman

New York, Oct. 30.—Henri Cochet and Miss Helen Wills head the list of the "world's first ten" tennis players, named by S. Wallis Myers, British writer and critic of the game, and announced in the current issue of American Lawn Tennis.

In each list the United States has more representatives than any other nation.

Cochet succeeds his countryman, Rene Lacoste, who was first in 1927, and Bill Tilden, United States, French stars, having dropped a notch. The runner-up to Miss Wills again is Senorita Lili de Alvarez of Spain.

DAVE LEWIS
Local lightweight, who has been matched with Jackie Knott, of Vancouver, in the semi-windup of Saturday night's fight card at the Sons of Canada Hall, Lewis met Knott dropping a close decision to the Mainlander.

LEWIS WILL FIGHT KNOTT

Lightweights Will Meet in Semi-windup to Fielding-Townsend Bout

Joe Bayley has been successful in getting Dave Lewis for the semi-windup for his show Saturday night at the Sons of Canada Hall when the rugged local lightweight will meet Jackie Knott, of Vancouver, in a four-round bout.

Bayley, who is looking after Lewis, intends to keep him busy in the ring game and has signed him up for four bouts during the next month. His first appearance will be on Saturday night against Knott. On Monday he meets the rugged Ferguson in a preliminary to the Foley-Roy championship battle at Vancouver.

On November 12 Lewis appears in the main event of a programme of bouts being staged at Port Angeles and on November 24 he will meet the Welsh fighter, Chris Langdon, in the round main event of a show being promoted at Duncan by Batstone and Crockett.

This will be the second occasion on which Knott and Lewis have met. These willine fighters boxed at Vancouver last Spring when they stole the show with a four-round set-to in which they stood toe to toe and slugged away at top speed in every round. The decision was awarded to Knott but quite a number of the fans figured a draw would have been the correct decision. It is expected that their meeting on Saturday will create as much interest as the main event between Fielding and McDonald who are meeting in a ten-round bout.

Bayley states that Jack Allen has also offered to bring over Billy McBeigh to fight Jumbo Davies, but Bobby Burns to meet Albie Davies, but no acceptance has been received from the Davies camp as yet.

Oak Bay Ladies Chose Captain For Coming Year

Mrs. Philbrick and Miss Helen Wilson were elected captain and secretary respectively of the ladies' section of the Victoria Golf Club at the annual meeting of that body held in the clubhouse yesterday. Reports of the year's functions were read and business relating to the coming season discussed.

The following members were elected to occupy positions on the executive committee: Miss Marion Wilson, Mrs. Pierce, Miss Pitta, Mrs. Hutchinson and Mrs. Pangman.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. Parry, the retiring captain and secretary.

HELEN WILLS AND COCHET TOP RANKINGS

Listed as Leading Tennis Players in World; Bill Tilden Drops Down

Cochet Succeeds Countryman Rene Lacoste; Lili De Alvarez Second Woman

New York, Oct. 30.—Henri Cochet and Miss Helen Wills head the list of the "world's first ten" tennis players, named by S. Wallis Myers, British writer and critic of the game, and announced in the current issue of American Lawn Tennis.

In each list the United States has more representatives than any other nation.

Huddersfield Is Clear Example of How C.C. Elevens Can Totter

By PENALTY KICK

League soccer in England on Saturday was notable for at least one feature game of more than usual interest, the meeting of a team composed largely of blended science and that of one in the making. Leeds United, that fine combination of players instilled with determination and filled with only one ambition, were Everton's visitors and continued their run of success by refusing to allow the home team to be even their equal, much less their superiors. Could it be that Dean was kept under subjection, or did he miss his Scottish partner, Dunn, who was chosen to uphold his country's colors in Glasgow the same afternoon, sufficiently to reduce his own uncanny talent to mediocrity?

But what a wonderful team the United must be. History for them is in the making. Demoted at the end of one season, promoted at the end of another, what will the end of the third season produce? Great as was their accomplishment on Saturday, last night's international talent, the combined international talent of Ireland could not prevent Dean from doing on Monday what Leeds prevented him from doing on his home ground—that of scoring a goal.

BLACKBURN STILL LEAD

Because of Blackburn's triumph on their home ground over West Ham, the position of Leeds is not changed, but being two games behind them, the latter's performance is superior to that of Blackburn's. Leeds have only played eleven games for sixteen points, while Blackburn have appeared thirteen times in League company for eighteen points.

The cup winners have not yet lost their lofty position in the League, but Huddersfield Town, their joint cup finalists, are finding it easier to coast downhill than to accelerate upwards. As then, so now. At present the last meeting between the two illustrating the same two-goal superiority.

GREAT TEAMS SLIP

Many a team has slipped from pomp to poverty in far less time than it has been able to realize the difference between the latter and the former. Notoriously curious in football is the fact that great teams inevitably slump in the second half of the season. Has such a predicament come Huddersfield's way? During the last five seasons they have led the League table three times, and twice they were second. With Saturday's defeat at home by Manchester United, their downward trend is continued.

The four teams heading the League each won their games, scoring eight goals between them without a reply. Burnley was the team suffering the hands of the County. Financial trouble is undoubtedly the cause of the Burnley predicament. Their season was commenced inauspiciously by a defeat at the hands of the County. Hill played thirty-seven league games and scored four goals for Burnley, but now Newcastle United possess his six feet three inches of stature and his approximate 180 pounds of avoirdupois. One's loss is the others gain.

WAS ONLY DRAW

Woolwich Arsenal and Liverpool equally divided eight goals in London, but that was the only draw in the First Division. Four visiting teams won their games, six were beaten, while points were divided in the home teams scored twenty-eight to the visitors nineteen.

Newcastle are surely in sore need of talent and the acquisition of Jimmy Gray is a bright idea. The recent severing of their connection with that fine international half-back, J. H. Hill, may have been for no other cause than lack of finance. YANKS TO HAVE BIGGER PARK

Seating Capacity of Yankee Stadium Will Be Increased to 125,000

New York, Oct. 30.—Jake Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, hopes to increase the seating capacity of the Yankee Stadium to 125,000 within a year. The stadium will comfortably accommodate 72,000 at present, although more than that piled in to see a crucial double-header between the Yankees and the Philadelphia Athletics late in the recent campaign.

Although no definite plans have been made, Ruppert hopes eventually to have the field completely circled by a covered stand. The first step in the programme is to replace the present centrefield bleachers with a concrete bleacher section.

Then an upper deck of wood will be built to discover if it will have any adverse effect on the lighting on the playing field itself. If players complain that the shadows are interfering with their handling of hit balls, the upper deck will be torn away.

If these plans go through, the park will accommodate 125,000 for football or boxing and about 100,000 for baseball. Ruppert hopes to have the improvements completed by late next year or in the spring of 1930.

HUDDESFIELD IS CLEAR EXAMPLE OF HOW O.C. ELEVEN CAN TOTTER

Rangers would have slid into second place.

Dundee United, Morton and Arbroath all won their games, they still occupying the head of the second division of the Scottish League, but Dundee enjoys a three-point lead over Morton and five over Arbroath. Visiting teams in this section scored twenty-three goals against twenty.

Invariably higher-ups were playing lower-downs. Home teams scored most goals in the English divisions, while visiting teams in Scotland were able to register more often than home ones. Of the 277 goals scored in the united divisions of the English and Scottish Leagues, 174 were scored by home teams, leaving 113 for the visitors.

Avoiding interference by the weakening of their forces from international requirements for nearly a month all English clubs will be striving for league honors.

In the First Division Aston Villa will entertain Derby County, while Everton may be able to regain a few lost laurels by defeating Burnley on the latter's ground. Both have been points out of twelve games. Although Portsmouth beat Bury, the occupants of the cellar, last week, Leeds should have no trouble in improving their own position at the dockers' expense next Saturday.

Of the four leading teams, Sheffield Wednesday will have the toughest job at Leicester. Bolton Wanderers should at least obtain a draw against the United at Manchester, over whom they now have a two-point lead.

Notts County, the leaders of the Second Division, will provide Nottingham opposition for Barnsley and Hull City, second in command, will endeavor to improve their league standing by a visit from West Bromwich Albion. Chelsea will be the guests of Wolverhampton Wanderers, and London will Eric Whitehead, skipper of the Canadian National Railways' squad, took the high individual game score and aggregate honors in the match which his team won from the Whitebings, with totals of 213 and 511 respectively in the Pirella fixture played at the Arcade Alleys last night.

Although they took two games out of three from Stockers and amassed a score of over 800 in the third game, the Poodle Dog Cafe were unable to win the final encounter from the experienced men who showed wonderful form to make a total of 927 in the last game of the Commercial League fixture.

A. Manson of the Poodle Dog created a new aggregate score record with 578 points to his credit. He also took the high game score honors with a total of 207 points in the second game.

COUNCIL PAYS LAST TRIBUTE TO EX-MAYOR

Standing Vote Marks Adoption of Resolution of Sympathy

Alderman Marchant Reviews Career of Ex-Mayor A. E. Todd

By a standing vote, the City Council last night adopted the following resolution to mark the sudden passing of ex-Mayor A. E. Todd.

"Resolved, that the City Council places on record its deep regret at the removal of A. E. Todd, who has served the city so faithfully and well as Mayor and Alderman. And offers its most respectful sympathy to Mrs. Todd and family in their sad bereavement."

Introducing the resolution Alderman William Marchant said the late Mr. Todd was one of the most prominent figures in city affairs.

"Serving for years as Mayor, Alderman and Police Commissioner, he was active in quasi-civic undertakings intimately connected with civic life. Scarcely a phase of the city's interests, commercial, industrial, charitable and social, but drew from him cordial assistance and material support," he said.

MAN OF VISION

The interest of Mr. Todd in transportation and publicity, and his vision of the future of Victoria, were touched upon by Alderman Marchant, who remarked that Mr. Todd's idea of Greater Victoria far exceeded a union of the four municipalities. "In all his outlook upon civic enlargement there was no selfish aspiration," he pointed out. "Hence his premature death, in the vigor and prime of manhood, is not only to be regretted deeply by the City Council, but also by the large body of citizens who knew him and appreciated his worth," he said, moving the resolution.

Alderman R. A. C. Dewar feelingly seconded the motion, recalling many years of association with the late Mr. Todd.

Mayor Carl Pendray preceded a summons to a standing tribute by remarking:

"Before putting the motion I would like to add that I have always had the highest regard for the late Mr. Todd, whose friendship I enjoyed for many years."

DEVOTED TO CITY

"His entire time, efforts and thoughts were given to the advancement of the City of Victoria and the surrounding communities. He was always planning for the future, with a keenness of vision, granted to few, and the welfare of the community so dominated his thoughts that it undoubtedly hastened his end."

"In the present age we seldom find a man who is willing to devote practically his whole life to the public good. The passing of Mr. Todd is a great loss to the community."

TO INCREASE LAND PRICES

City to Revise Downtown Property Values; $10,000 Bid Rejected

Beaming optimism reigned last night in the council chamber of the City Hall, when the aldermen devoted nearly an hour to a canvass of the realty situation in the city.

A recommendation from the lands department, that a vacant lot on the north side of Fort Street, near Douglas Street, be sold for $10,000 spread over five years, brought Alderman P. R. Brown to his feet in strong opposition. He believed the lot to be worth $15,000 and was strongly backed by Alderman Mara. Alderman Adam supported the sale, remarking that six months ago the council would have been glad of half the offer. Alderman Dewar stated the land committee would not feel badly if the offer were rejected. The property had just come into civic control and was assessed at $17,000, with charges due the city of over $15,000. The sale was rejected, and a new price of $15,000 placed on the property.

CASH PLUMS

The council ratified sale of a lot on Johnson Street, between Blanshard and Quadra Streets, at $4,000 cash, and a lot on Broughton Street, between Douglas and Blanshard at $4,000 cash.

TO INCREASE PRICES

Alderman Brown then sought withdrawal from sale of all properties south of Hillside Avenue and west of Cook Street, pending revaluation at an increased figure in keeping with the recent advances in realty prices. After debate revaluation of downtown properties was approved, but Alderman Brown's plan to shut down sales in the meantime was rejected. Alderman Woodward found no seconder for a motion to increase all prices twenty-five per cent.

Alderman Woodward moved that the city ask the Legislature to remove the restriction on upward increases in assessment values, which now may not annually amount to more than 12½ per cent. This was lost after Alderman Dewar had pointed out that four years of steady progress could increase assessments by fifty per cent, and that no sudden boom in prices was to be looked for.

Albert Head

Much credit is due to those pupils of Albert Head School who prepared the models used for the decoration of the principal table at the pioneer gathering held in the Methosin Hall. The log cabin bearing the date 1858, with its realistic moss-grown roof, was the work of Peter Brotherton, age 12, helped by Christine Stapleton, David Brotherton, Arthur Deveson, Walter Deveson, Frank Spencer and Jim Saltmarsh. It was presented to Premier Tolmie as a souvenir of the occasion. The model of a modern frame house was made by Amy Cawley, age 10, the surrounding garden being the work of C. Stapleton and Peggy Higgs.

COMPETITION IN POWER IS NOW SOUGHT

Council Hears of Plans to Break Electrical Monopoly

Alderman Clearihue Forecasts Encouragement of Competing System

The industrial committee of the City Council is endeavoring to interest capital in development of power for Victoria industries. Alderman Joseph B.
Clearihue last night informed the council, "We are not going to lie down.

We will fight. We are still working on plans to interest capital in power development here. If we cannot get power at reasonable rates from the British Columbia Electric Railway

Limited, we will get it elsewhere," he said.

CONSIDERABLE SAVING
Alderman Clearihue's announcement came at the conclusion of a report by the industrial committee upon the negotiations with President Kidd of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, showing that special rate concessions to the Panama Pacific Terminal Elevator Company, for maximum consumption, would also be extended to the cold storage plant. When making this report the committee stated,
"this will be a considerable saving."

The committee stated that there was no possibility of lower general power rates in Victoria being accorded by the company.

TEN YEARS TO WAIT
A review of the statutory limitations imposed upon the city was placed before the council, showing that until December, 1938, the city may not pass any by-law to raise money to become a competitor with the British Columbia Electric Railway Company Limited, or until an offer for the undertaking of the company had been submitted.

The city is not debarred from attracting other concerns from entering the power business, but may not extend any concessions in tax exemption or other ways.

The council instructed the Industrial committee to continue its labors to secure a solution of the power situation.

EXPLAINS POWER COST
Natural conditions, including scarcity of water and cost of conservation and development, are assigned by President
George Kidd, of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company Limited, as insuperable barriers to lower power rates in Victoria. The following letter from Mr. Kidd to Alderman H. Q.
Litchfield sets out the position of the company.

"Your letter of September 21 addressed to Mr. Goward with regard to industrial power in Victoria has not been replied to earlier as I wished to go thoroughly into this question with Mr. Goward and our engineers and other officials in order that the costs and any factors connected with this matter might have the fullest possible consideration.

"When the question of constructing a hydro-electric plant on Vancouver Island first came up for consideration it was decided to develop Jordan River watershed. It was realized beforehand that the Jordan River power development was not by any means a cheap one and that the costs of producing power from this source would always be relatively high. The Jordan River power plant has been in operation for about seventeen years and the costs of power for the Victoria system have been definitely established, and I regret to inform you that these costs are very considerably higher than the cost of power developed by our mainland plants.

EXPENSES HEAVY
"The reasons for this added cost lie largely in the natural conditions for hydro-electric power. The cost of the mainland and the Island systems. On the Island small watersheds with greatly varying rates of run-off involve large expenditures for storage reservoirs to conservate and regulate the river power, and long conduits by flume and pipelines are necessary to utilize the water.

"In addition to this factor, however,
it must be remembered that the head in Vancouver and the neighborhood is many times greater than in Victoria, which fact tends to decrease the cost of developing and distributing power.

"My company has every desire to meet the wishes of your committee and to assist to its utmost in all legitimate ambitions and schemes for the development of the Island power. I do not, however, believe that we can do so if we cannot, if the company is to remain solvent, agree to rates which are uneconomic and which do not give us, either now or in the future, a sufficient return to enable us to raise the capital necessary for development.

POWER RESTRICTED
"Another factor which should not be forgotten in Victoria is that, so far as we know, the Jordan River power is the most favorable power within reasonable distance of Victoria, and the quantity of power at Jordan River is limited. It is to be regretted that power in Victoria is more costly than in Vancouver, but it is due to geographical factors for which my company is not responsible and which, while we all very much regret it, cannot be overlooked.

"These are the main reasons for the differences which exist, and which, I fear, must continue to exist, between the cost of power on the Island and the cost of power on the mainland, and in view of this situation I very much regret to have to inform you that there can be no general reduction in power rates in Victoria."

"GEORGE KIDD,
"President."

A Story of the "Mystic East"

The Riddle of Siwa

By DIXON KAYE

Author of "Dr. Burney's Greatest Case,"

"First," said Seymour, "we want to find the exits from these subterranean passages; we understand that they are in the direction of the Moccattin Hills."

"That is so," answered Ibrahim.

"They are not very far off, but you want to know your way."

The Chief of Police interposed.

"You gentlemen," he said, "will go at your own risk. I will take no responsibility. Neither will I accompany you."

"Never mind the Chief of Police," Ibrahim said. "I know the way well."

"Then he whispered to Seymour:

"Do you think it will be safe for Sir Bertram Manders to come with us?"

"We shall have to cross the great subterranean lake, as black as ink, and very terrifying in its aspect."

"No," answered Seymour. "I do not think he had better come. I will speak to him."

He went over to the old man and took him aside.

"We are going through a very trying and dangerous part of the subterranean passages, including the crossing of the great lake. The Sheikh Ibrahim thinks you had better not come, Sir Bertram."

"I would do anything," he answered, "to find my little Eva."

"Of course you would," was Seymour's answer, "but don't you think you can leave that to Monsieur Ahmed, Ibrahim, and me?"

The old man looked weak and irresolute.

"You had much better go back under the protection of the police," urged Seymour.

So, at last, Sir Bertram turned away with the Chief of Police, and the others continued on their journey.

They soon passed the scene of the conflict; the bodies, and every other trace of it, had, of course, been removed.

"Our next difficulty is to cross the lake," announced Ibrahim. "Be very careful—how you walk—and search the ground carefully with your lamps before you. The waters of the lake are quite black, and you may come upon it quite suddenly, and it is easy to fall in, which would be a calamity, as the lake is very deep."

Ibrahim led on and produced from his pocket another torch, which gave a red light. Then, showing both lights, he produced a whistle and used it loudly.

Almost immediately they came to the edge of the lake.

It was not long before, far in the distance and across the black water, there appeared two lights, one red, one white, obviously in reply to those the Sheikh carried.

Then there was the muffled sound of distant oars, and the lights moved; evidently they were on a boat.

The three stood looking across the awe-inspiring expanse of black water, the Prince and Seymour trying to find the limit of the lake, but there was none.

After some minutes the boat drew near.

"Come," said Ibrahim, "we must embark, and be rowed across to the other side, where I will promise to show you something novel. This lake," he continued, turning to Seymour, "is supposed to have been made in the time of Saladin, to supply the garrison of the Citadel with water when besieged, but you will see that it has been turned to quite a different purpose."

The Prince entered the boat, and sat with his head in his hands.

"And there are people alive," he murmured, "who saw me made."

Ibrahim gave him a quick look and entered the boat with Seymour, but he made no reply.

Slowly the boatman, who was an ordinary Arab, pushed off into the blackness of the lake.

It was a weird journey; the very oars were steeped in the ink-like hue of the water as the Arab "wiggled" more than rowed the boat across.

But for this sound, there was absolute silence. Not one of the party felt inclined to speak.

Presently a doorway appeared in the solid rock of the farther bank of the black lake; it was brilliantly lighted up and was the only spot of comfort they had seen.

"We enter now," pursued Ibrahim, "the most coveted and much sought after spot in the Citadel, the Treasure House of Saladin."

The Prince sat idly watching the increasing brilliance of the entrance doorway. There were figures moving to and fro within it.

Presently there came forward what looked like a line of Arab soldiers, dressed in the traditional robes of the desert, and armed with long spears.

"There was a burst of flame and smoke and a deafening series of reports."

"Don't take any notice of that," explained Ibrahim. "It is only the observation of an old custom. They are aiming over our heads."

This was confirmed by the flattening of heavy bullets against the distant cliff of the lake. The missiles had probably been fired from Arab guns.

Ibrahim took an automatic pistol from his pocket, and fired a couple of shots in the air. There was a great display of red and white lights, and then the boat, which had stopped when the firing began, moved on again.

"What a nice place to attack from!" exclaimed Seymour. "With all the chances in favor of the defenders, fancy firing in a boat full of soldiers, sunk in this black pool. Ugh!" He shuddered. "I don't wonder that it has never been captured," he added.

The Arab now propelled the boat straight to the mouth of what appeared to be a cave.

The nearer they got, the more interesting the interior looked.

Seymour was absorbed by one thought.

Would they find Eva there?

But when the boat was brought alongside a flight of stone steps, Ibrahim made an announcement.

"You must stay in the boat," he said, "until I have reported myself to the Commandant. It is an old custom which must be complied with."

But he was back again within a quarter of an hour.

"Miss Manders is not here," he announced, "but she is in a place of safety and is well guarded and cared for."

"Has she been here?" Seymour asked.

"Yes, she spent one night here; you shall see suite of apartments she occupied," was the reply.

"When shall I see her?" the young Englishman asked, piteously.

"You will see her before long," was the answer.

"But where shall I find her? Who will take me to her?" Seymour asked.

"I will take you to her," Ibrahim answered.

Seymour looked at him for a moment or two, and a waft of jealousy passed through his mind.

Why should he know where Eva was? Why should it be he who was to take him to her?

But he remembered what the Prince had said. He did not believe that Ibrahim had had anything to do with carrying her off.

"And now," proceeded Ibrahim, "follow me, and I will show you some of the wonders of this underground Treasury."

They entered the cave, the Guards falling back as they proceeded.

Through a long passage they came to a spacious hall, which had been hewn out of the solid rock. This was furnished simply, as the ordinary entrance to a Turkish house, but leading out of it right and left, were doorways covered with rich curtains. Through one of these Ibrahim led them.

"I will show you the suite of apartments in which Miss Manders passed the night of her stay here," he said.

They went through the curtains and found themselves in a suite of rooms leading one from another, and illuminated apparently by electric light. They passed through these, Seymour looking anxiously for some sign or message from his lost love.

He could see nothing.

In the farthest room was a handsome European bed, hung with curtains.

"That is the bed she rested in," said Ibrahim, with a glance at Seymour.

But he soon hurried them back into the entrance hall.

"I am going to take you now," he said, "to view the vaults beneath, and to show you treasures, the value of which has never been computed; it is too vast."

They went through another curtained doorway, and then down a flight of steps—out of the rock. After descending about forty of them, they came to an open space, from which passages opened on all sides.

Ibrahim led them down one of these which were all brilliantly illuminated.

"In this passage," he said, "there are the riches of a kingdom. Look!"

He pulled aside a curtain which hid a niche in the wall. Here were a number of gold basins covered with a cloth of gold, each full of what Seymour knew to be uncut diamonds, rubies and emeralds. They were of enormous size and value.

"And to whom," he asked, "do all these riches belong?"

"To those," answered Ibrahim, "who are best entitled to them: the descendants of the old kings of Egypt."

He drew back curtains for a brief moment from perhaps twenty niches, all of which were full of golden basins containing uncut gems.

"But has no one tried to steal these gems?" asked Seymour.

"Many have tried," was the answer, "and have been appalled by the Black Lake; others have even tried to storm the entrance to the cave, but have all been killed, to a man. Finally, the entrance can be blocked by the solid rock, and the upper cave flooded with the black water. No one will try again. No man in Egypt would attempt it."

"And is there any other reason?" Seymour asked.

"Yes, because they know that they would be fighting a power which is supernatural. And now," continued Ibrahim, "time presses, and we must be away."

"And are we obliged to return by the Black Lake?" the Englishman asked.

Ibrahim turned to him, smiling.

"No," he answered, "we shall be able to pass through the cave presently, to the Moccattin Hills; meanwhile, you must rest and refresh yourselves for we have a long journey before us."

"Where do we journey to, Sheikh?" Seymour asked anxiously.

"At about two o'clock when the moon rises," Sheikh Ibrahim replied, "forth on our journey far into the desert."

THE TINYMISTES

STORY BY HAI COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

"Well, well," the burly captain cried.

"Now that the whale's dropped over the side, and all you little lads are safe, please tell me who you are. I know that you're out to see the sights, but that's not all there is to know about you lads, by far."

The Tynmistes all thought a while. Then Scouty's face broke in a smile. "I fear there's nothing else to tell about our bunch," said he. "We merely came upon this earth to hike for all that we were worth. When we're on the go we are happy as can be."

"What, don't you ever work a bit?" the captain asked. "Do you just sit around and take things easy? Why, I'm quite ashamed of you. You all look healthy, also strong, and that is why I think it wrong for you to loaf. I'm sure I'll find some things for you to do."

"Oh, my, we wouldn't mind at all," said Copy. "When you want us call and we will come a-running." "Well, that's fine," the captain cried. "Your promise I will surely keep in mind, but now you need some sleep. I'll take you to your bunk room if you'll follow me inside."

They reached the room on board the boat and then the captain said: "Take note that there is room for all of you. Now keep this room real clean." Then, out he went, and Clowny said: "A plan just popped into my head. Let's make some things to have some fun. To-morrow's Halloween."

Of course to this they all agreed and looked for things that they would need. They found some sticks and feathers and made ticklers. My, what fun! And then they made some tick-tacks, too. Said Clowny: "Gee, what we will do! We'll scare the funny captain when our cute tricks are begun."

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Shooting Pigs

Copyright, 1928, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

(By Howard R. Garis)

Uncle Wiggily stood in the edge of the cranberry bog, looking all around with his bright eyes, trying to see what was that had been throwing the red bullets at him hitting him on the nose and ears. For the rabbit gentleman had gathered a tall, silk hat full of cranberries so Nurse Jane could make a pie.

Then he had gone to the edge of the bog to see if there were enough berries so Mr. Stubbish, the bear gentleman, might have some. And when, after finding a lot of berries, Uncle Wiggily went back where he had left his hat, lo and behold it was gone.

But right away he felt himself being pelted with cranberry bullets. For the Curly! They may shoot you with cranberry bullets as they shoot me!"

But Curly, though he seemed surprised to see Uncle Wiggily, did not answer. Then he and Floppy ran toward each other, shooting their popguns and shouting:

"Bang! Bang! Bang!"

Out of the popguns of the shooting pigs flew hard, red cranberries. Those that Floppy shot hit his brother Curly, and those that Curly shot hit his brother Floppy. And some of the cranberries shot by both little piggy boys, went "ker-bang!" and "ker-bunk!" on Uncle Wiggily's pink, twinkling nose.

"Hold on there, boys! Stop it!" cried the rabbit gentleman. "Those are my cranberries they are shooting away. Stop it!"

Then Floppy and Curly stopped shooting their popguns now and laughing and shouting at the fun they had had, the pigs went to where Uncle Wiggily sat on the stump.

"What's the game?" asked the rabbit.

"Why," grunted Floppy, "Curly and I were walking along with our popguns, wishing we had something to shoot in them, and right here we found a tall silk hat full of the red things. So we were playing Indian, shooting the berries. They don't hurt much if they hit you."

"Well, some hurt my nose," said Uncle Wiggily with a laugh as he rubbed it. "But I'll forgive you. So you didn't know I had gathered those berries for Nurse Jane to make a pie?"

"No," said Curly, "we didn't." They saw back Uncle Wiggily's hat and helped him gather more berries for the pie and then the two little pigs went home with Uncle Wiggily, pretending they were soldiers to guard him from the Bad Chaps. And no Bad Chaps came. So everything was all right, and if the automobile will take off its shoes when it goes to bed in the garage, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's tall hat.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

Uncle Wiggily looked around the corner.

dark red, hard fruit, as large as small marbles, seemed to hit like bullets when landing on Uncle Wiggily's nose.

"Who can be shooting at me?" thought Uncle Wiggily, and as he looked around another cranberry went kerbunk on the back of his neck.

Down he ducked behind the stump and the next cranberry bullet that was shot at him hit the bark with a "ping!" and broke so that the juice splattered all over.

"That is no way to treat cranberries!" thought the rabbit. "If any of the Bad Chaps are throwing them at me I wish they'd stop!"

But more berries pelted through the air and then Uncle Wiggily heard a voice shout:

"There! I hit you that time!"

"Yes, but this time I'm going to make a hit!" called another voice.

"Dear me! There are two of them!" said Mr. Longears. "I wish I had the Police Dog here to help me!"

Uncle Wiggily looked around the corner of the stump behind which he was hiding, and as he did so, he saw Floppy had a pop gun in his paw.

"Look out, Floppy!" called Uncle Wiggily. "There are Bad Chaps in the bog. They have been shooting cranberries at me. Maybe they'll shoot you!"

Floppy seemed surprised at seeing Uncle Wiggily, but the little pig did not answer, running on toward another clump of bushes. And all of a sudden, out of these bushes jumped Curly Twisttail, who was a brother pig to Floppy.

Curly also had a pop gun and Uncle Wiggily called to him:

"Watch out for the Bad Chaps."
